STORY OF THE PLAY

This much loved and familiar tale is most familiar as a ballet. However, it began as a classic story of literature by a German author, E.T.A. Hoffmann. The story involves an eccentric inventor whose nephew has been turned into a nutcracker doll by a curse. In order to break the enchantment, the Nutcracker must destroy the Mouse King and find the love of a maiden even in his wooden state. Clara, the inventor's God-child, receives the Nutcracker as a Christmas gift and falls instantly in love with the wooden doll. In a fantasy world, where all the toys come to life, Clara helps the Nutcracker get rid of the evil Mouse King in a thrilling sword fight. The Nutcracker then turns into his former Princely self and marries Clara in a heartwarming finale.

ORIGINAL PRODUCTION

The Nutcracker and the Mouse King was first produced by Interborough Repertory Theater and toured through Encore Performing Arts, Inc. of New York.
